

A MEMORIAL WITH MANY VIEWS

The columbarium, easily accessible by a lower parking lot off the cemetery's Rock Creek Avenue, has amazing views from many vantage points. Looking uphill past iron railings, a splendid view of the columbarium can be seen with central seating, planter and cast stone urn. The Willow logo designed by Brian Williamson and executed in granite by sculptor Andrew Del Gallo is pendant to Del Gallo's rendition of the Oak Hill seal.

If one walks into the columbarium, two more angel reliefs by Del Gallo have been installed. To the west is a horizontal figure of a weeping angel which is cut both as relief and intaglio. The second figure is a vertical composition of an exultant angel on the south wall.

The circular interior seating also offers carefully framed views of the surrounding grounds and an area for quiet reflection. Lining the interior walls are cremation niches for double and a limited number of multiple urn interments. Each interment niche is sealed with a black slate memorial cover of such unusual thickness that dramatically deep bas-relief art can be carved which, over time, will fill the columbarium with beautiful sculpture unique to this extraordinary site.

MAP OF CEMETERY

THE OAK HILL CEMETERY

WILLOW COLUMBARIUM

Hours: M-F, 9 - 4:30, Sat. 11- 4, Sun. 1- 4
3001 R Street, NW Washington, DC 20007-2923
202 337-2835 www.oakhillcemeterydc.org

Northeast entrance and iron-railed landing used when approaching from the waterside parking lot at the foot of Rock Creek Avenue.

South entrance to columbarium viewed through sheltered seating area in grotto beneath our rustic bridge.

Overview of columbarium from Bridge Avenue with eastern end of parking lot visible beyond.

The tranquil Amphitheater Section, viewed through contemplation grotto, features a reduction of Augustus Saint-Gaudens' Amore Caritas bas-relief.

The interior of the columbarium presents large panels of niches whose black slate covers will be hand carved with your choice of original artwork and memorial text. The standard double niche holds two urns and its cover is 12 inches square. Some adjacent niches may be combined to provide greater capacity.